

* * * * *

"...your writing has caught absolutely the flavour of real Italian life, and a real person's life story, so that one absolutely believes in, and trusts, the authenticity of what you are saying. ... so many biographies try to read like fiction, and as a result end up sounding contrived and untrue. Your great skill is to let the story tell itself, and not to let any authorial tricks or ego get in the way. Franca herself comes across as a wonderful character—absolutely indomitable, but also completely of her time and place."

—Anthony Capella, author, The Food of Love and The Wedding Officer

"By reading this book, I learned more than I ever knew about conditions in Italy during the war. ...The book contains numerous illustrations of Franca's art. All in all, a great read and an educational one."

—Frank Travisano, teacher, excerpt from book review in Sons of Italy national magazine, fall 2006

"This true story of wartime Italy will touch the very deepest part of your heart. ...Franca's courage rings through this entire book. Her memories will become yours, enriching and uplifting your life."

—Peggy King Anderson, author of THE FALL OF THE RED STAR

* * * * *

Order from: Baker & Taylor,
Partners/West, and QBI.

* * * * *

ISBN 0-9763929-0-9
204 pages, 30 illustrations
6"x9"

$26.95 ($33.50 CAN)
Publication date: 9/05

www.wimerpublishing.com

13301 SE 79th Place, B-105

Newcastle, WA 98059

425-235-1285

info@wimerpublishing.com

This award-winning memoir of life in wartime Italy provides a window into a fascinating time and an intriguing family determined to survive amidst increasing devastation and loss. Rich, compelling details are told through the eyes of a teenager and accompanied by warmhearted, powerful sepia images of Franca's art, which introduce each chapter.

Kirkus:

"An inspiring tale of quiet heroism during wartime. In an Author's Note, first-time biographer Kinman begins the story of her neighbor with the assertion that "writing a memoir means: what happened happened, there is no fantasy in reality." However, what results here is a real story, as she seamlessly relates Franca's experiences in war-torn northern Italy during the years 1937-45. ...Ample yet unassuming, and illustrated with period photos and evocative paintings by Franca, this touching memoir is an enjoyable journey for lovers of Italy and those

- Authors are available for events with two weeks' notice.
 - Postcards are available.
- Readers' Guides available for book clubs.
 - Franca and Diane thoroughly enjoy School Presentations, 7-12 grades.

Wimer Publishing
Company